FIGHT FOR TARIFF IS STILL ON

New Campaign of Sugar Interests Was Launched This A. M. at Committee Meeting

PRESS BUREAUS MAY BE OPENED AT ONCE

New York and San Francisco Will Be Points from Which Battle Will Be Fought

A new campaign in the interests of the sugar industry of the islands was launched this morning at a meeting of the Sugar Protection Committee. Plans for an extensive and far-reaching campaign to suppress published misstatements concerning the sugar industry of the territory were outlined, and the suggestion was made that two press bureaus should be established at once, one in San Francisco and the other in New York, to be devoted to the business of correcting untrue articles appearing in publications relating to the sugar industry.

This means the renewal of the fight against the removal of the tariff on sugar, the following out of the never-say-die determination, which is to end only when the fight against free sugar is won. No time will be lost in establishing the bureaus. Arrangements for quarters for them will be taken up at once.

They will be conducted under the direction of the two local commercial bodies, and representatives will be appointed to fill the positions created. The bureaus are thoroughly familiar with the sugar conditions here, and probably they will be selected from among the men who have been engaged in Washington in fighting against the passage of the free sugar clause in the Wilson-Underwood bill.

The action taken today by the committee is in accordance with the plan suggested by former Governor George

STOCKHOLDERS WILLING TO BUY OR SELL

Will Either Stand Assessment or Sell Property at Figure Near $10,000,000

Suggesting that either an assessment of five cents a share be levied on the stock to pay off the $600,000 indebtedness of the company, or that a sale of its property be made at a figure near $10,000,000, the stockholders of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company met this morning in the offices of E. D. Tenney of Castle & Cooke. The suggestions of the stockholders, as above given, will be sent to the directors of the company in San Francisco.

Word was received here from the directors a number of days ago stating that it had been proposed to them that an assessment be levied on the stock of the corporation to pay off the $600,000 debt, and that as many of the directors desired to get an expression of their opinion in the matter before taking further action.

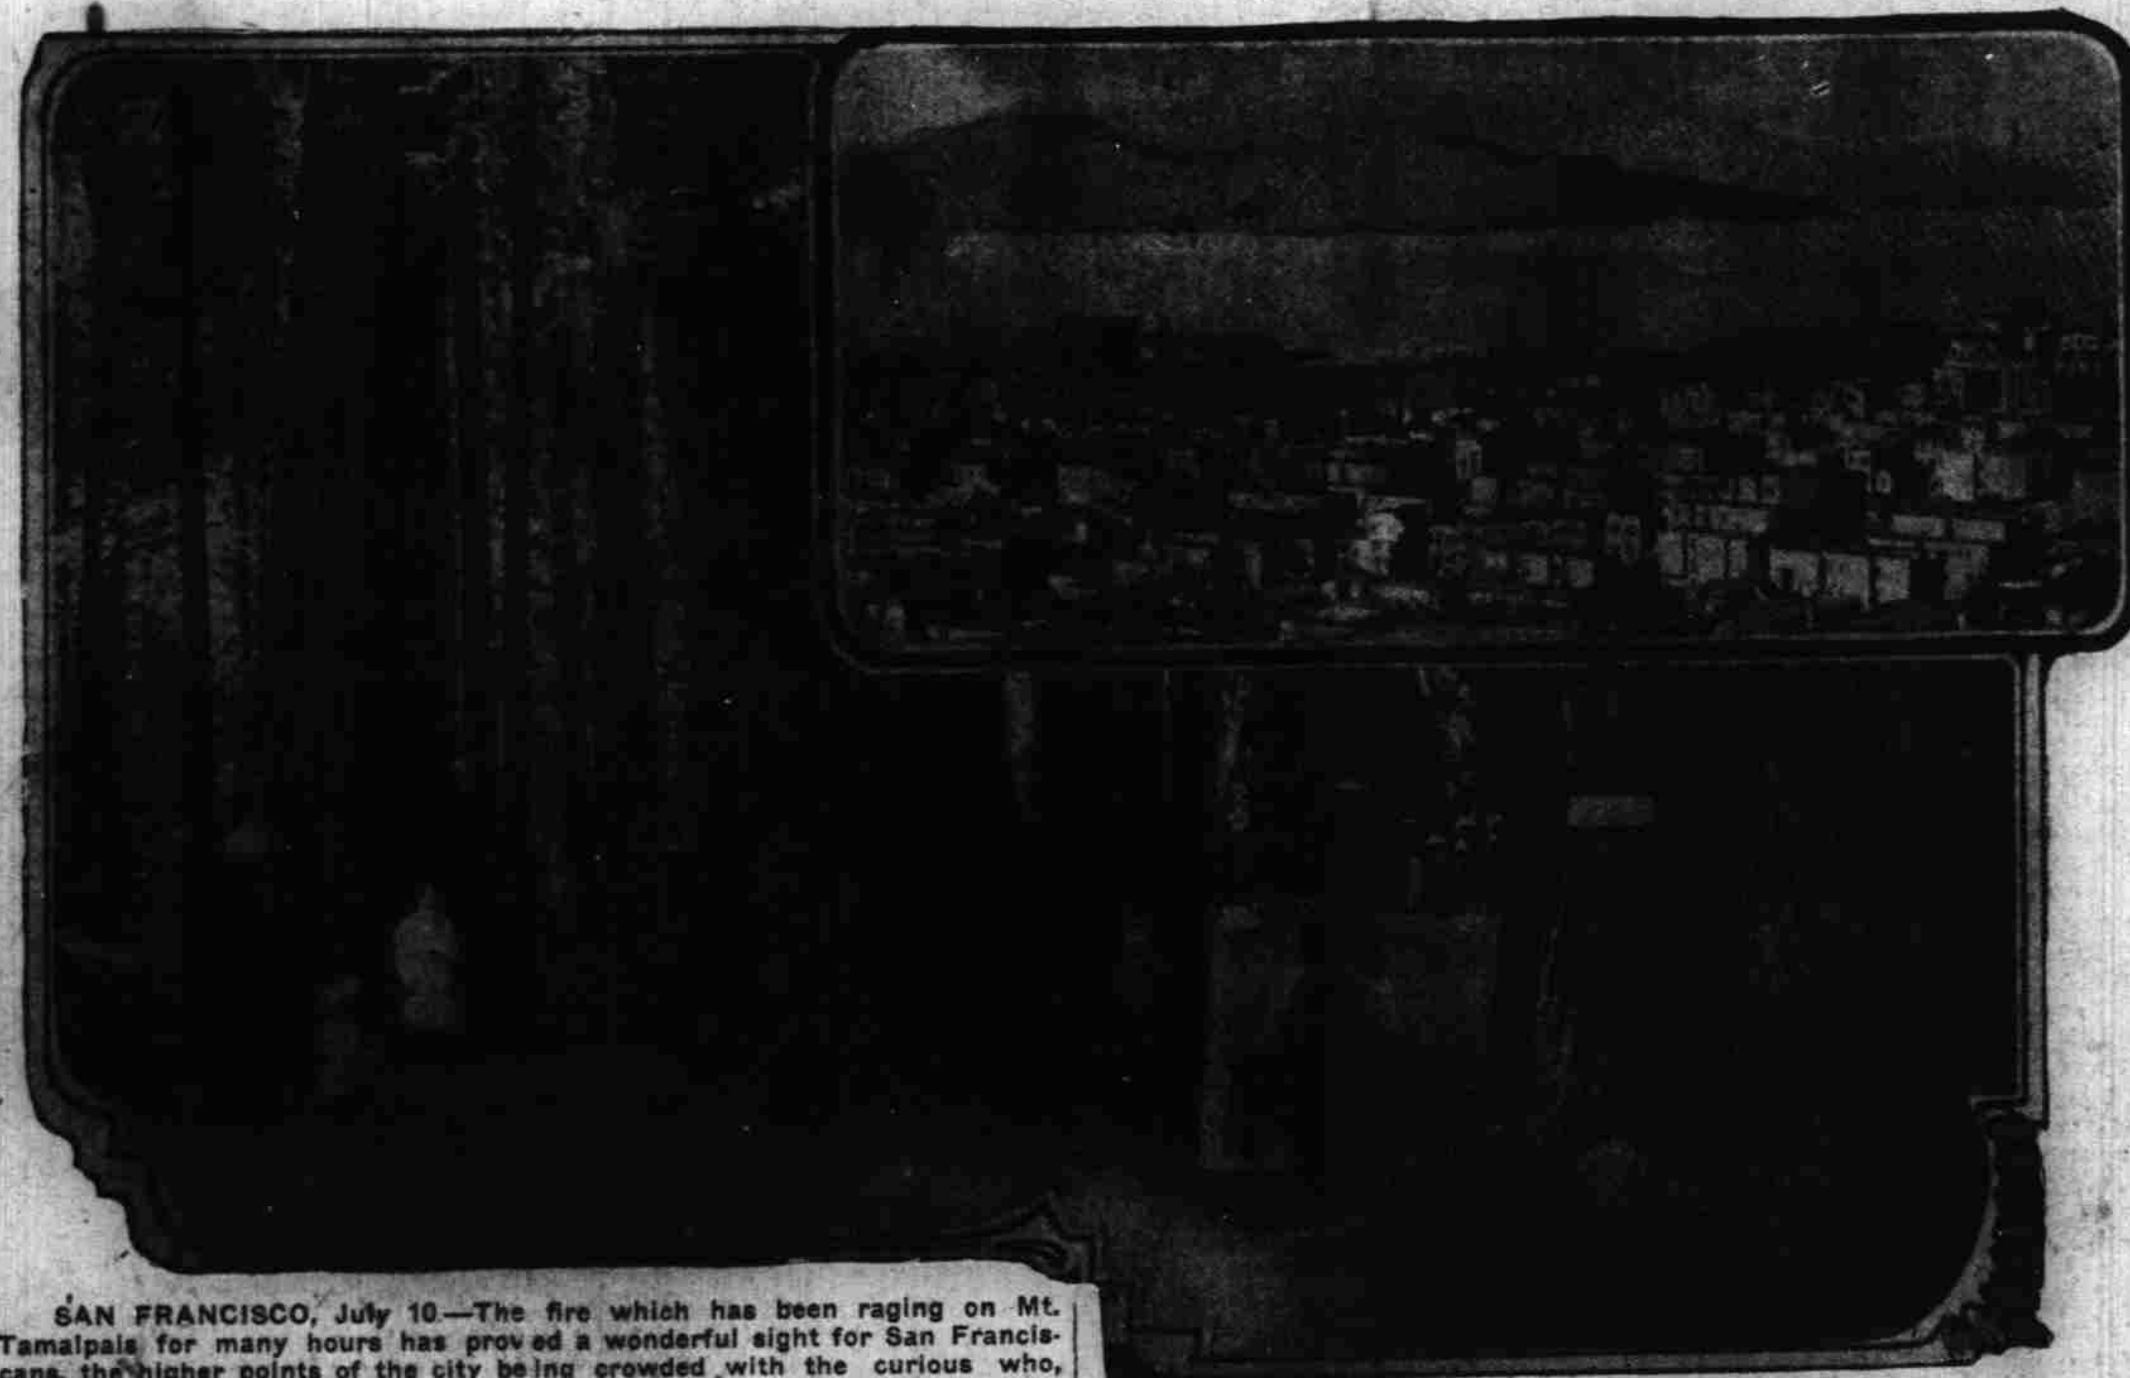

The meeting this morning was called following the receipt of the communication, and more than twenty large stockholders were present. It was stated that the profits of Honolulu Consolidated are now amounting to about $30,000 a month and that with the debt of the company discharged it would soon be in a prosperous condition.

A large amount of the stock is held here, and there has been considerable dealing in it lately. Its last sale was at 80 cents, and offers to buy at slightly lower prices are being made. The stockholders present at the meeting were of the opinion that the directors will adopt the suggestion made by them of a five-cent assessment.

FIRE RAGES MANY HOURS ON MT. TAMALPAIS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—The fire which has been raging on Mt. Tamalpais for many hours has proved a wonderful sight for San Francisco, the higher points of the city being crowded with the curious who, with the aid of glasses, were afforded a good view of the burning area. Up to a late hour this morning no word has been received from the Tavern which was cut off from communication yesterday and which it has been impossible to approach on account of the dense smoke. A large number of troops, sailors and civilians is still fighting the fire.

HOG CHOLERA CAUSES MANY DEATHS ON OAHU

Hog cholera has become so widespread and disastrous on Oahu that precautionary steps have been taken by the territorial government to prevent its extension to the other islands of the group, which would threaten Honolulu's main source of supply. Governor Frear today signed the prohibitory regulation adopted by the board of agriculture and forestry last Tuesday, and the order takes effect immediately.

Dr. Victor A. Norgaard, territorial veterinarian, states that more than 1,000 head of hogs have succumbed to the epidemic on Oahu within the last two months, and that practically every swine raising section of the island, even up to Kahuku, has become infected. He has been able to check it to some extent by inoculation of the uninfected animals, but owing to the lack of assistance his work has not been sufficient to check it materially. Many of the breeders and growers are now able to handle the inoculation themselves, given the serum prepared for that purpose, and in this manner are making a desperate struggle to save their rapidly dwindling droves.

So far as Dr. Norgaard has been able to learn the epidemic has not reached any of the other islands, and the executive order issued today is to make certain that the contagion shall not be carried to them from Oahu. Few swine shipments are made from Oahu to the other islands, most of the movement being in this direction, to supply the large retail market afforded by Honolulu and the military posts.

The regulation, which was adopted unanimously by the board of agriculture and forestry at its meeting Tuesday provides that until further notice no hogs of any kind shall be taken from Oahu, except those which may arrive here, crated, from outside points and destined for the other islands. In such instances the stock must be kept aboard the vessel or transferred to other vessels under the direct supervision of the superintendent of animal industry, his assistant or deputy, who will take every precaution to prevent infection in transit.

Hogs not crated, however, shall remain aboard the ship on which they arrive or shall be landed here for final disposition at the cost of the owner, agent or consignee, and shall not be transferred to any other island in the territory.

The penalty for violation of the regulation is a fine of not more than $500.

FIELD WORK AT SCHOFIELD

General Funston, General Macomb, and their respective staffs will take the field tomorrow morning, to witness a field problem at Schofield Barracks, in which many of the troops of the brigade post will participate.

The department and brigade commanders will make an early start, traveling to Leilehua by motorcar.

TARO MAY BE USED AS FOOD ON MAINLAND

With a view to making a study of the taro growing industry and an investigation of the culture of the tuber as carried on in the islands by the Hawaiians and the Chinese, R. A. Young has been sent to Honolulu by the department of agriculture to find out whether or not the taro may be successfully grown and converted into food in the United States.

Mr. Young has been affiliated for many years with the experiment stations which the department of agriculture conducts in Florida and South Carolina and stated this morning that many successful experiments have been made in the growing of several varieties of taro. The name by which the tuber is known in the south is "Dasheen", which is an East Indian name given to the vegetable, which is of the same species as the taro. In the south the taro is grown on dry land with the use of little or no irrigation, and Mr. Young's investigation here will be of the method of growing the plant by means of extensive irrigation.

Experiments made with the taro on the mainland have brought forth the fact that it may be easily converted into an excellent flour which is said to be even better than that made of wheat or rye. Mr. Young further stated that he believes the taro plant will eventually take the place of the Irish and sweet potato in the southern states. The taro may be easily grown in the south, he says, and on account of the great expense of shipping potatoes from the north, it is evident that the basis of the staple food of the Hawaiians will be grown and converted into a food which will not only replace the potato in the south, but will be in demand all over the states. He will remain in Honolulu for a month and his course of investigation will cover the methods of growing the different varieties of taro and the many ways in which it may be made into food.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT NORMAL TO OPEN MONDAY

The annual summer school will begin at the Normal School next Monday morning. Registration of students, in progress this week, indicates that the enrollment will be larger than last year, although the number of the teachers intending to take the course usually waiting until the last day or two to make known their purpose.

The instructors have been chosen and the organization practically perfected for the summer term.

This decision was reached following the receipt of a wireless message from Captain Halsey of the New Zealand, in which he stated that he planned to call here Monday and part of Tuesday.

It was upon the latter day that the committee had arranged to entertain half of the crew of the ship and follow the entertainment Wednesday with a similar one for the remaining half of the crew. But now that it is known that both Monday and Tuesday will be taken in coaling the battle-cruiser, the entire crew, or so much of it as can be released from duty, will be the guests of the committee on Thursday.

Other changes may be made in the program for the officers, which is in the hands of the different clubs. All

MILITARY DISPENSARY GOES INTO OPERATION HERE TODAY

An innovation of considerable importance to the army on Oahu, which has been urged by the medical department for some months past, went into effect today, when a military dispensary was opened in the territorial immigration receiving station, on the waterfront. Besides being a dispensary and first aid station for the army at large, the new dispensary will serve the medical purposes of Fort Armstrong, the nearby mine company post.

Captain W. R. Davis, medical corps, who is attending surgeon at department headquarters, is in charge of the army dispensary. Sergeant W. H. Kesselring, hospital corps, with two hospital corps privates, will be on duty, and the dispensary will be open night and day.

The military dispensary fills a long felt want, say army officers, as it will now be possible for men on pass to secure attention while in the city.

The army medicos at headquarters have secured more space for their office work. Room 64, on the second floor of the Young Hotel building, has been added to the long line on "army row," the attending surgeon having his office there. In addition to Captain Davis, Dr. B. R. Huntington, the post surgeon at Fort De Russy, spends a portion of his time at department headquarters, having charge of the eye treatments which may be required. Dr. Huntington has specialized in this branch of the profession.

Colonel Appel, the department surgeon, has done much in the way of organization since assuming his duties here, and the medical department of the army here is now in a high state of efficiency.

CHAMP CLARK SAYS WILSON'S CHOICE IS CLAUDE R. BALL, OF MONTGOMERY CITY, MISSOURI

Cable Report Says President Favors Him — Local Democrats Declare Influence of 'Johnny' Wilson Responsible for Selection of Outsider

[Associated Press Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—Speaker Champ Clark of the house today announced that President Wilson's choice for United States district attorney for Hawaii is Col. Claude R. Ball of Montgomery City, Missouri.

[In its original form the cablegram says "attorney-general" instead of "district attorney", clearly an error, as the attorney-general is appointed by the governor, and must be a resident of the territory, and there is no vacancy in the office.]

'JOHNNY' WILSON CREDITED WITH THE INFLUENCE

Receipt of the news that President Wilson has picked a mainland for district attorney to succeed Robert W. Breckons confirms the news printed some days ago in this paper that National Committeeman John H. Wilson had absolutely refused to support the candidacy of James L. Coke for the position.

Chairman Pacheco of the Democratic territorial central committee this afternoon said that while he knows nothing personally of Col. Ball, mentioned as the president's choice, it is evident that the work of Committeeman Wilson is bearing fruit. He says that Wilson refused to support Coke largely because Coke would not support McCandless for governor, Pacheco declaring that McCandless was the choice of the Democratic organization.

"This is the only position for which Johnny Wilson will support a mainland," said Pacheco. "Otherwise he will work for men of this territory for all positions to be filled by the administration."

The territorial committee some time ago withdrew its endorsement of Coke and Pacheco says that the president's action shows that the administration recognizes the Democratic organization here and defers to its wishes and endorsements. Coke could not be reached this afternoon.

Allies Are Exhausted And Ask Powers to Intervene

[Associated Press Cable]

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia, July 10.—Exhausted by the terrific fighting of the last few days, the warring allies are now glad to consider peace.

Bulgaria, which so far has seemed to be the victor in the series of contests, has openly committed herself into Russia's hands and the Czar and his advisers will be authorized to speak for Czar Ferdinand when peace terms are considered, according to official news here today. In taking this action, the Bulgarian minister says that it is the desire of his country to avoid further bloodshed.

France has agreed to negotiate with Bulgaria on behalf of Greece and Serbia, and it is probable that Russia and France will shortly begin negotiations looking to a settlement of the difficulties over the territory recently conquered from Turkey.
